

HUSBAND ATTENTIVE TO BEAUTIFUL WOMEN

On This Showing Mrs. Anne Bat
Gunn Is Awarded Her Decree.

Yesterday's divorce matinee in Judge Morse's division of the district court was comprised of but two cases. Others were scheduled for hearing, but there was no response when one was called and in others a continuance was asked for.

The case eliciting the most interest was that of Anne Bat Gunn, who asked for a divorce from Thomas S. Gunn, on the grounds of cruelty. The plaintiff went upon the stand and told a story of the infidelity between herself and husband, extending over a long period. The family lived away out on the southeast bench, far from any neighbors, and there the defendant conducted a "dog ranch." He was in town frequently for the purpose of hauling "swill" and on many of these occasions he came home late at night, said Mrs. Gunn, and often in a more or less intoxicated condition. Not only would he abuse his wife at such times, but he would taunt her by telling of the entertainment he had received from "beautiful women." He was in the habit also of hugging and kissing every lady friend of his wife that came to the house.

A sister of the plaintiff, Mrs. Elizabeth Dibble, and Mrs. Sadie Brown gave corroborative evidence. Mrs. Dibble said that her brother-in-law had frequently boasted to her of his conquests among the fair sex, and had told her that she did not know that she was alive yet, because she did not receive the attentions of other men.

Mrs. Gunn was given a divorce and the custody of her two children, aged eight years, while Gunn is to have the boy, two years old, and was ordered to pay $5 a month for the support of the girl. Defendant withdrew his answer to the allegations of his wife.

Maude Dunnington granted a divorce from Richard Dunnington on the grounds of non-support. The plaintiff testified that she had not lived with defendant since last January, because of his associations with other women. She had told her for two years she had been compelled to work for her own support. Dunnington is a carpenter and able to earn good wages, said Mrs. Dunnington. No alimony was asked for in the complaint, as Dunnington had threatened to leave the state if a judgment of that kind was rendered against him, and Mrs. Dunnington preferred to take chances on his support rather than to be obliged to seek to compel him to contribute. Mrs. Lily Homer, a neighbor, corroborated Mrs. Dunnington's testimony.

COMPLAINT AGAINST KENNEDY.
Deputy sheriffs are now anxious to meet "Prof." M. F. Kennedy and Mrs. Ray Wilson, late proprietors of a local dance hall. Justice Dana T. Smith has issued a complaint against Kennedy at the instance of the proprietor of the New York house, charging Kennedy with beating his board bill. It is said the man and woman are indebted to the hotel for more than $100. There are several other mortgages on the property of the New York house, charging Kennedy with beating his board bill. It is said the man and woman are indebted to the hotel for more than $100. There are several other mortgages on the property of the New York house, charging Kennedy with beating his board bill.

Some time ago the juvenile court officials investigated conditions at the dancing hall in the city with a view to keeping young men and women from being lured away by their parents. The report made on conditions at Kennedy's was such as to raise a storm of protest. Then Kennedy and the woman packed their belongings and departed, leaving several hundred dollars of unpaid bills. The New York house people received a note from him from Oregon, stating he would see them later and in the meantime for them not to worry about him. It is expected that other complaints will be filed against the man and woman, charging them with obtaining goods and money by false pretenses.

CHOKED TO DEATH
Is commonly said of babies who have died of the croup. How unnecessary this is. No child ever had croup without having a cold or cough at the start. If you will stop the first symptom of the cough with Ballard's Homeopathic Syrup there is no danger whatever of croup. It is sold at the Drug Store, 112 and 114 South Main Street.

MILK DEALERS PROTEST.
Representative milk dealers of this city met last evening at the Elgin offices to draw up a protest to the city council against the high license charged dealers here. They call attention to the fact that in addition to the $350 milk dealers' license they are compelled to pay an additional $70 for a merchant's license besides all their other taxes. They also want $1 tax placed upon all shippers, and ask for a rigid system of barn inspection. The milk dealers say that not a dollar of the revenue received from them is so expended as to be of any benefit to them. Where other cities allow a nominal license and maintain a rigid barn inspection, Salt Lake charges an abnormally high license and has no barn inspection whatever.

BLACK HAND LETTER.
H. C. Reynolds, former mayor of Springfield, came to this city yesterday and reported to the federal authorities that he had received a black hand letter from unknown sources through the mail of last Thursday. The letter in question is composed of vile language and assures him that he and his brother will be killed in a certain time. It is illustrated with a large black hand.

Mr. Reynolds is one of the best known men in the county, and the letter has caused much excitement among his friends. The work of the black hand is the ravings of some insane person. After Mr. Reynolds went back home yesterday he found part of his mail had been opened on his office window with the same warning. No cause can be found for the letters, as Mr. Reynolds is not known to have an enemy in the world.

SUBMITS ANNUAL REPORT.
Fish and Game Commissioner Recommends Several Changes.

The annual report of State Fish and Game Commissioner H. B. Cromar was submitted to Governor John C. Cutler yesterday. Besides making reports in the ways of finances and statistics, Mr. Cromar tenders recommendations which he considers will be for the benefit of the fish and game interests of the state. He is not in favor of gun club proposals, as he believes that such places are against the welfare of the general public. The prohibition of Japanese carrying firearms would be a good thing, in his opinion, this to apply to other aliens, who have, as a rule, less regard for game laws than do Americans.

The following figures are contained in the report:
During 1907 there were 22,364 licenses issued, 1908, 23,055; 685,000 fish fry were placed in the streams of Utah, and 2,152,800 raised at fish hatches; 2,350,000 lake and mountain trout hatched in the streams or a total of 4,992,000 raised.

During two years, there were 268 arrests and 229 convictions. The department has earned $21,642.86, and the expenses have been $30,491.45. The deficit, however, is covered by legislative appropriation.

Impressive Concert at the Catholic Cathedral

The dream of Bishop Scanlan's life was realized last evening, when he sat as a spectator in the grand cathedral erected as the result of his own long and tireless endeavors; heard the music from the great organ sweep over the heads of the congregation; and saw the spacious auditorium gazing and listening in almost awe-struck admiration at the spectacle they beheld, and the sounds that greeted their ears. Few Catholic cathedrals in the United States, and certainly none in the great intermountain region, approach in magnificence the richness and architectural splendor of St. Mary's, which was opened formally to the public for the first time last evening.

It was not the formal dedication, however, that event being reserved for the day when the building is completely finished. There was much of a temporary character in the arrangements last night; heavy curtains covered the inner openings, which will later be occupied by swinging doors, and all the seats were made to face the organ. Later they will be reversed to face the altar, when that is placed in position.

Last night's event was devoted to the dedication of the new Kimball organ, recently installed in the south end of the building, back of the lofty space reserved for the choir. "Half an hour before the choir, a large force of ushers all arrayed in full dress, was kept busy showing the throng of people to their seats, and the time was fully occupied by the auditors in gazing upon the beauties of the great interior, the Gothic arches, the simple but imposing pillars, and the beautiful bas reliefs which are placed on all the walls, completely encircling the building and picturing episodes in the life of the Redeemer. The tremendous height of the arches and the great open space in the chamber, from the organ back to the altars, gave a wonderful chance for the voices and instruments, and the acoustics were unanimously voted as being perfect; in fact the effect at times, as the volume of sound rolled into the auditorium was most thrilling.

THE PROGRAM.

Preliminary to the commencement, Father Ryan, the business manager of the concert, made a brief address of welcome in which he paid tribute to Bishop Scanlan, and to those who had made the erection of the cathedral a possibility, closing by announcing the name of the lady who gave the organ to the cathedral, Miss Ellen Hayes of Elgin, Nev. The announcement was greeted with applause, as her identity had not been disclosed, previously.

Miss Nora Gleason, the young Levantine of music on whose slight shoulders the care of the program, rested, then took charge, and for the next two hours the impressive and grand program of the evening followed. The directress provided almost an embarrassment of riches. Everything that could be selected and rendered, the only possible fault being the length of the offerings. The organ spoke for itself, and made even more than the expected impression. Under the skilled hands of Prof. John J. McClellan, its great possibilities were fully portrayed, and only one verdict, that of genuine satisfaction, was recorded at the close. Mr. McClellan's numbers ranged from the imposing and massive selections like that from "Tannhauser," down to the dainty "Mignon" Gavotte, and whether he was pouring forth a thunderous volume from all the stops in unison, or giving the delicate effects of the hymn "Nearer My God To Thee," (inserted in the program at the request of Bishop Scanlan), the instruction of the organ was most wonderful and beautiful. It is very much like the tabernacle organ in the softer tones. "The Pilgrim's Song of Hope," (so rendered by the organ), and the imitation of voices in some of the other steps were almost identical with the larger instrument. Mr. McClellan played several solo numbers and accompanied throughout in masterly fashion. The instrument, it may be said in passing, has about twenty-two hundred stops, the tabernacle organ containing about 5,000. A technical description of the organ was printed in the "News" on July 29 last.

The solo work of the evening was of a high standard. With such voices hooks thereon made for the chief purpose of separating the genus sucker from his money.

The house on east First South Street, until recently known as the Aztec, was conducted by Blankenship, and in it they were many who both liked and trusted the pleasant spoken and accommodating landlord to such an extent that they made no objection to leaving their money from time to time when he asked for it, always under the best and most plausible reasons. These are now among the sitters on the mourners' bench. Like all the other several business houses who extended credit to the departed and they too are now wondering how they came to be so easy, because Ferdinand is far, far away, having departed for California—was a week ago.

A call at the sometime Aztec, now the Golden, revealed the fact that the inquiries for the former proprietor were many, and nearly all made in vain. The main attempt to collect over bills, varying in amounts from $5 to $135, the latter being for coal, and that there were a number of roomers in the house who would much like to hold a few minutes' heart-to-heart talk with Blankenship. The shortages, so far as known, will probably amount to somewhere in the neighborhood of $500, and for the most part the losers have written the accounts off, and pocketed their losses with certain philosophical resolutions, the tenor of which is "Never again."

The belief that the ponies led to the downfall of Blankenship is based on the knowledge that he made almost daily pilgrimages to the shrine of chance, as maintained at the race track during the meet here, and that his shortages, and request for loans, commenced about this time. Out of it all, one thing is not left to conjecture, and that is that the plausible and smiling Ferdinand Blankenship is gone, and that there are many unpaid creditors who mourn the fact.

HAPPY NOW
Family of Twelve Drink Postum.

"It certainly has been a blessing in our home," writes a young lady in regard to Postum.
"I am one of a family of twelve, who, before using Postum, would make a healthy person uncomfortable by their complaining of headache, dizziness, sour stomach, etc., from drinking coffee."

For years Mother suffered from palpitation of the heart, sick headache and bad stomach and at times would be taken violently ill until about a year ago she quit coffee and began Postum.

"My brother was troubled with headache and dizziness all the time he drank coffee. All those troubles of my mother and brother have disappeared since Postum has taken the place of coffee."

"One of my brothers declared he would stick to coffee if it killed him, which we thought it was doing. One day we ran out of coffee and being a mile from town we gave him Postum without saying what it was."

"My Oh!" he said, "the coffee is the best today I have ever tasted."

"A sister was ill nearly all her life with headache and heart trouble, and about all she cared for was coffee and tea. The doctors told her she must leave them alone, as medicine did her no permanent good."

"She thought nothing would take the place of coffee until we induced her to try Postum. Now her troubles are all gone and she is a happy little woman enjoying life as people should."

"I think everyone who makes Postum according to directions on the package will find it a success."

"There's a Reason."

ON GARNISHMENT.

In the case of Laing against Gernio and Salt Lake City, Judge Lewis has rendered a decision to the effect that a garnishment cannot issue from an proceedings from justice's court. The ruling does not apply to attachment proceedings from justice's court. The opinion affected also the case of Kane against Christensen and the Commercial National bank.

In Thousands of Homes Pe-ru-na Is the Family Doctor.

Mr. and Mrs. Plamann and Children.

A Happy Family, Kept Well and Hearty By Taking Pe-ru-na.

Mrs. Alvina Plamann, 1719 Walnut street, Milwaukee, Wis., writes:
"I am now able to do my housework again, and have a good appetite. I have used thirteen bottles of Peruna and one of Manalin."
"My husband and children are also in good health. We always keep Peruna in the house. I thank you a thousand times for your advice."

An Enemy to the Home.

CATARRH is the natural enemy of every home. Over every home hangs the inevitable certainty of catarrhal invasion.

No home is entirely free from it. Every person is subject to it.

It would be no exaggeration to say that two-thirds of the homes of America have suffered more or less from this invisible, almost omnipresent enemy, catarrh.

Peruna is the natural protection of the household.

It is intended to relieve catarrh and catarrhal diseases in many and all of their phases.

Pe-ru-na the Household Remedy.

Mrs. Carrie King, 730 North Cascade, Colorado Springs, Col., writes:

"Peruna has been my favorite and only household remedy for nearly five years. I have suffered for years with biliousness and kidney and liver troubles. If I caught a little cold, the pains were increased, and backache and headache were of frequent occurrence."

"However, Peruna cured me—twelve bottles made me a new and healthy woman. For three years I have enjoyed the best of health. I keep Peruna constantly in my home, and if my husband or I catch cold or feel indisposed, a few doses of Peruna never fail to restore us."

ANDREW JENSON LEAVES.

Receives Sixth Call to Perform Mission in Foreign Land.

Elder Andrew Jensen, assistant Church historian, has been called to preside over the Danish and Norwegian mission, and will shortly leave for his field of labor. This is the sixth call of a similar character to take Elder Jensen from home. From 1873 to 1875 he was a traveling elder in the Scan-

The Many Phases of Catarrh.

Catarrh may appear in the household in the form of a slight cold or cough, an attack of la grippe, or even hay fever.

Peruna meets these invasions squarely and repulses the enemy before it gains a foothold.

Therefore, Peruna is a household remedy. Used at the correct time it often obviates the necessity of continued doctoring.

Perhaps in no other way can the wisdom of economy and foresight be so forcibly expressed as in keeping on hand a bottle of Peruna to protect the various members of the family against the encroachments of catarrh.

We have on file, thousands of testimonials from heads of families, located north and south, east and west.

These letters praise Peruna for its efficient protection of the family against catarrh.

Mother and Children Depend on Pe-ru-na.

Mrs. J. F. O'Connor, 400 S. California Ave., Chicago, Ill., First Soprano, Areal Singing Society, writes:

"For a number of years I had suffered from catarrh of the head, and while some of the remedies helped me a little while taking them, they did not cure me permanently. My child was also sensitive to the cold and every little thing would give her a cold in the head, and it used to worry me a great deal."

"I one day heard what a wonderful medicine Peruna is and what it has done for others, so I bought a bottle and tried it. I could hardly realize my good fortune, when, before I had taken a whole bottle of it I felt like a new woman. I took it for some time longer and also gave some to the baby and she improved as rapidly and as permanently as I did."

Uses Pe-ru-na in His Family.

Mr. Frank W. Harris, box 23, Basle City, Va., member A. F. & A. M., writes: "I have used Peruna in my family with very satisfactory results for the last two years."

"Besides, I have recommended it to all whom I think are in need of it. I urge all who are afflicted to buy a bottle and begin its use at once."

"I have never heard of any who have used it to be dissatisfied with the results."

Hay Fever, Coughs and Colds.

Mrs. Lena O'Byrne, 629 Madison St., Topeka, Kas., writes:

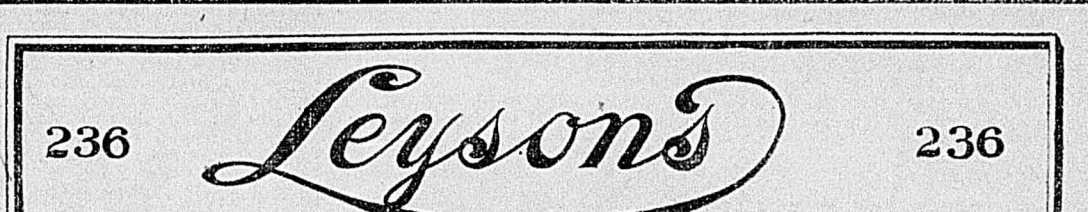

"We have used Peruna in our household for a good many years."

"I took it for a cough and a tonic. My husband used it and thinks there is nothing like it for hay fever from which he suffered for years. I also give it to my children for coughs and colds, and my daughter, Mary, was cured of catarrh of the head by Peruna."

While upon the mission to which he has just been called, Elder Jensen will engage in literary work, as well as to preside over the mission indicated. His labors will call him into parts of Norway not previously visited by him.

BOYS FOUND AT DEPOT.

Waiting in the railroad yards for a train to take them to Butte, Ray and Frank Jensen, two lads who claim to be orphans, were taken into custody by the police last night and today were turned over to the juvenile court. The boys claim their home was in Butte, but that their parents are dead. They say they beat their way to Salt Lake and arrived here on the 18th of November. They met a boy named George Jensen, no relation of theirs however, and he took the boys to his home where Mrs. Jensen cared for them. The youngsters became dissatisfied and decided to beat their way back to Butte but Mrs. Jensen notified the police and they took charge of the boys.
